

How can a race team, team owner, or driver use RaceStatus®?

Written by Gregg Campbell

First you need to become a member of RaceStatus® by signing up here .

After you are a member and you log in then you can choose "RaceStatus® Publisher Application" from the menu on the left side of our page. We probably do not have your team in our database already so you will then click the 'Not Listed' button.

Fill out the requested information and be sure to choose 'Team' as the type of application.

What happens next?

RaceStatus® administrators will review your application and approve you to become a publisher for your team. In most cases we will not contact you in this process for Team additions. Once approved you will have a new menu item available to you allowing you to send messages.

It is then up to you to have anyone your team needs to communicate with sign up with RaceStatus® and subscribe to your publication.
