

Why are you doing this and how can you do it for free?

Written by gregg campbell

Because I spent a lot of money out on the road traveling to canceled events. Not only do the owners and promoters have a big job to do...they do not know who is and is not planning to come to each event. This service allows them to update everyone that is interested without spending hours on the phone.